

REPEAL OF MULLAN-GAGE LAW IS PREVENTED BY ONE VOTE

Review of Session Shows Lusk Laws Repealed, Offering of Soldiers' Bonus and Hospital Bond Issues for Voters' Approval, Several Labor Bills and Smith's Government

Albany, May 4.—The Dunnigan bill to repeal the Mullan-Gage went down to defeat in the assembly this afternoon by one vote.

A motion by Minority Leader Donohue to suspend the rules of the house so as to bring the repealer, which was forced out of rules committee last night, before the house for final action, was lost by 75 to 72. Seventy-six votes were needed.

New Republicans voted with the Democrats to bring the repeal bill before the house, but the absence of Assemblyman John P. Nugent, New York Democrat, from his seat when his name was called resulted in failure to carry the motion.

Last night when the Democrats forced the Dunham bill out of rules committee, Nugent voted yes.

Assemblyman Nugent later appeared in the chamber and then Minority Leader Donohue asked to reconsider the vote by which the motion was lost. Speaker Machold ruled that the motion was out of order. Mr. Donohue then appealed from the ruling of the chair. A slow roll call was taken and the ruling of the chair was sustained 75 to 70, several of the "swing" Republicans voting to uphold Speaker Machold.

Mr. Donohue then moved to discharge rules committee from the consideration of the bill of Assemblyman lax. Speaker Macphail ruled that the motion was out of order as the Assembly was on the third reading calendar. He said that such a motion could only be made on the order of reports of the committee. It is explained that the committee is not later in the day when the committee will then render its motion to force out the Auditor-General.

With the aid of nine Republicans, the state forced the Democratic repeal bill out of assembly rules committee last night by a vote of 76 to 70. The dry law would have been repealed then and there had not three up-state dry Republicans blocked its advancement to the order of final passage.

This is the first time in a quarter of a century that a motion to discharge rules committee has been successful, and it was the fifth attempt by the Democrats to bring the repealer out on the floor of the house for a vote.

The vote of Assemblyman Van Wageningen, Republican of Vlieter, was the deciding factor in discharging the committee. The largest vote the Democrats have had previously been able to muster was 75, but Mr. Van Wageningen furnished the extra one to make the required majority of 76. He was not present when the previous motions of the dry measure were made but dry Republicans had thought he would vote with them.

Republicans in addition to Mr. Van Wageningen, who voted were Jesse Swarthout, Ulman, Kaufman and Riccio of Greater New York, Murphy and Griffith of Monroe and Seelbach of Erie. Two Democrats, Livingston of Columbia and Kahler of Chemung, in committee in the lower house, in place of the trade commission the Republicans passed a bill to create a special bureau in the attorney general's office to prosecute violators of the Donnelly anti-trust law.

The governor's recommendation that direct primaries be restored for state and judicial offices, was rejected by the assembly Republicans. In its place they passed a bill which would do away with the official state convention and would have candidates for such offices nominated by party committees.

Several amendments to the workmen's compensation law, recommended by the State Federation of Labor were passed in both houses. The Bureau of Women in Industry in the State Labor Department, was restored as it was under the previous administration of Governor Smith.

The governor's recommendation that bi-partisan election boards be established in every county in the state, also met defeat in the assembly. There are several counties which do not have these boards, and the governor believes that every county should have them.

Several public utility bills, sent recommended by the governor are some introduced at the request of a state office, passed in the senate but were defeated by the Republicans.

Albany, May 1.—With but little

The 1922 session of the state legislature adjourned she did today.

The session has been one of the longest in years and has been marked by bitter fights between Governor Smith and the Republican Assembly.

The result has been that virtually every measure recommended by the governor in his annual message has gone down to defeat before the assembly of the Republicans or the House.

Probably the most important piece of legislation recommended by the governor and rejected by the legislature is the bill to amend the law to increase the compensation of members of the state judiciary and increase the number of appellate state officials to seven. House and senate committee and attorney general. Even this was amended by the Republicans to include the attorney general and limit the department to six members. The governor recommended that the judiciary be increased by one member in the 1924 legislature and then submitted to the voters the following fall. If approved by the people it will become effective before 1926.

It seems to be generally expected that with all the failures that came before the 1922 session, the fight of the "moss" to repeal the Mulligan-Gage state prohibition enforcement law, probably attracted most attention. A measure to repeal the law was passed in the Democratic senate, but lost in the Republican assembly by one vote.

Mr. C. Cheeming and Livingston of Columbia, voted against the repeal of the law to increase and open public utilities.

Governor Smith's recommendation that the bank anti-trust bill be repealed was carried out after the assembly had been adjourned.

During the early part of the session it was thought the Republicans in the lower house would turn down his recommendation by the vote of eight Republicans from Greater New York with the Democrats, but it passed without a hitch.

The governor's recommendation that a 35¢ alcohol and issue be submitted to the voters this fall for creation of new state hospitals to provide better care protection of the present institutions, was approved by both houses.

With the roll call in the senate showing 16 Democrats and 12 Republicans, Senator James F. Walker, Democrat, and one of the city council and two every Democrat Senator present at the time and important measure came up for action.

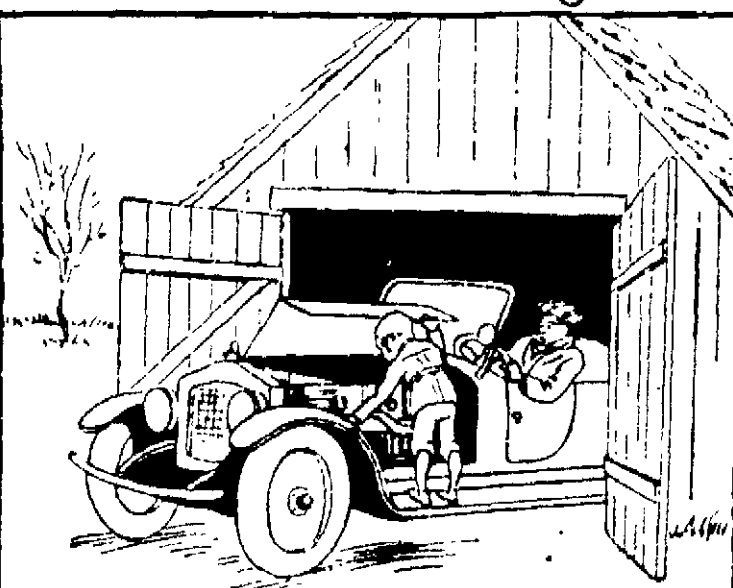

Predictions made at the beginning of the session that Governor Smith would win nowhere with his legislature because of the Republican's majority, came true.

OLIVERIA.

Oliveria, May 3.—Because of the new schedule on the Ulster & Delaware railroad, the mails will arrive and leave here one hour earlier than heretofore.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Kane were in Kingston Sunday. Mrs. O. Hamilton gave a party on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Either Bennett's birthday. A. S. Lebowitz made a business trip to Fleischmanns on Tuesday. The farmers here seem in no hurry to do much plowing because of the continued cool weather. At the annual school meeting on Tuesday night officers were elected as follows: Trustees, A. Krause; Mrs. O. Hamilton; director, Edwin C. Chase; collector, Ole Haaland.

DANG DICKINS'S INFIELD SHOOT

There Was No Trouble in the Gallapies Hitting His Offspring. But They Couldn't Hit Them Out of the Diamond—Busters' Anna Game With Dang's Aid.

Captain Twin Gormley of the Busters, was sore. He had set up all night trying to evolve plans for defeating the Gallapies, ancient rivals of the baseball diamond.

It was at this juncture that the door to his private office swung open and a dumbled Dang Dickins, a traveling tourist, seeking the price of a meal.

It was not the most opportune time for making a touch, but Dang did not know that.

The request for financial assistance met with a muttered growl from Gormley and an invitation to make a quick journey to a somewhat warmer climate.

As Dang was ducking out of the room in a hurry Gormley with a grim smile said, "By the way if you can hit me where I can dig up a trailer who can produce the goods it will mean a hot spot for you."

Dang, who had turned, grinned suddenly saying "How did you know I was a trailer?"

"Can that early morning comedy," shouted Gormley.

"Honest," persisted Dang "I can deliver the goods any time desired."

A sudden whim seized the leader of the Busters and tossing Dang a fifty cent piece he advised him to acquire some rats and then show up later at the ball park and show his wares.

Well Dang Dickins did show up, and in display of wares so impressed Gormley and his Busters that he was given the job of tossing them over that afternoon against Captain Ralph Goodboy and his last traveling Gallapies.

It was ideal baseball weather as the opposing teams took the field for practice. The Gallapies were in high good humor and felt that they had their hitting eye working just right.

"Who is Gormley going to use against us?" inquired Zink Biven of Goodboy.

"He told me he had a surprise package," replied Goodboy with a grin "but I told him we had opened a lot of his packages and it was hard to surprise us."

"You said something, Captain," said Biven, grinning.

Zink Biven headed the hitting power of the Gallapies and was the first man up to sample some of Dang's wares. Now Dang depended on what he called an infield shoot. It was a cross between a fast ball and a medium slow shoot. It would roll up to the plate with a deceptive speed and seemed to chug to the bat in such a manner that all the batter could tap out was a "put" infield tap, which was easily fielded.

Zink braved himself as the first infield tap came over. He had thought that the first overing would be a ball, but Dang wanted on the ball being always hit, and threw the shoot in such a manner that it had to be struck, but he put enough stuff on it to cause it to almost wind itself around the bat.

Zink, feeling that it was a strike, struck and caught it on the end of his bat, but to his disgust all he hit was a pop fly easily caught by the Busters' shortstop.

As the game progressed it was seen that the Gallapies had their hitting eye, but remarkable as it may seem Dang put so much stuff on the ball that it seemed as though there were only two men playing the Gallapies, he and the Busters' shortstop. Every ball Dang hurled was struck, but not a Gallapier could rap the ball outside the infield.

During the ninth inning slid by until the fatal ninth when Gormley caught one of Goodboy's shots for a out call. The Gallapies came in for their half determined to annex enough runs to win the game, but the first three men went out by the infield route.

With the final out it was seen that Dang had pitched a remarkable game. He had hurled just 27 balls, and every one had been hit, but not a hit had gone further than shortstop Eben Goodboy, the brainiest of men in the mountain, and failed to solve the problem of correctly hitting the infield shoot.

The score now stood three and two in favor of the Gallapies, and the game was at white heat in the Mountain League.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America)

BOY SCOUTS AS CITY HEADS

An increasing number of cities are joining hands with scouting work for citizenship training and are paying the scouts a tribute according to no preceding generation of boys, namely, city governments for brief periods are being placed in the hands of the scouts with full instructions as to how the affairs of state are conducted, a sort of sublimation into civic responsibility.

Among the cities that have recently paid their scouts this compliment are: Chicago; Lancaster, Pa.; Franklin, Pa.; Oil City, Pa.; Chester, Pa.; Superior, Wis.; Galveston, Tex.; Des Moines, Ia.; Alexandria, La., and Seattle, Wash.

"When a scout does his best, something happens," reports a Seattle paper, "judging from the results of the brief rule of the city which our young citizens enjoyed."

For one hour on the appointed day, fifteen-year-old Scout Mayor John Moriarty, assisted by his corps of deputies, all of whom had been elected to office in conventional manner by their brother scouts, held sessions at the city council chambers. Definitely here is what these officials accomplished:

Chief of police given petition asking investigation of the enforcement of the anti-cigarette law.

Committee of scouts named to investigate dangerous traffic points in Seattle.

Plans formulated to organize a "traffic and safety" committee in all schools.

Approval of plan for advisory board, composed of business men, to co-operate with city council in matters of finance.

Proposal that city officials be required to take the Scout oath in connection with their oath of office.

At the police station, the fire stations and on traffic duty throughout the city, the scouts were at the helm.

A SEXTETTE OF SCOUTS

Troop 99, Pittsburgh, claims these two sets of three brothers, from the Fry and Hindmarch families, Scout Milton Hindmarch, third from bottom, has not missed a troop meeting since joining the movement three and a half years ago.

HEROES ON BOY SCOUT ROLL

On scouting's honor roll at the recent meeting of the National Court of Honor thirteen states were represented by heroic scouts. Butte, Montana; Wheaton, Illinois; Kenosha, Wisconsin; Cranston, Rhode Island; Rushton, Minnesota; Granite City, Illinois; Springfield, Massachusetts; Newark, New Jersey; Lowell, Washington; Elkhart, Indiana; West Orange, New Jersey; Westport, Connecticut; Santa Monica, California; Manchester, New York; and Claremont, New Hampshire; all have their heroes who at peril to their own lives, and through courage and the application of their scout training, saved the lives of others.

CORNELL HAS SCOUT CLUB.

Cornell university has added itself to the increasing list of universities in which scout clubs are being formed by men who were formerly scouts and those who are interested in learning more about the movement.

BOY SCOUTS PUT OUT FIRE.

Woodbury (N. Y.) Troop 1, recently organized, had an early example of the necessity for "scout preparedness" during work of play. While fourteen of the boys were returning from a hike they observed smoke coming from a chimney of a house. The boys hastened to the building and scaled the roof where they discovered a blaze caused by a defective fan. When the fire department arrived they found that the scouts had already put out the fire, and the department was not needed.

Experience Valuable. It is as much waste to take head out of the oven too soon as it is to allow it to remain there too long. Prevention of waste requires the exercise of judgment which is gained only through experience. This is why experience is a valuable asset.

FINDS TROPICAL ARCTIC VALLEY

Region of Great Wealth Warmed by Hot Springs.

ONLY WHITE MAN TO VISIT IT

Victoria, B. C.—Beyond the northern wilderness of British Columbia on the border of the Yukon lies a tropical valley where dandelions grow three feet high and huge ferns wave three feet high in the warm breezes. Discovery of this extraordinary region is reported by Frank Perry, prospector and explorer who has just arrived back in civilization after months of wandering around the headwaters of the Findlay.

The hot springs warm the volcanic valley, Perry says, and give to the soil chemical properties that result in luxuriant, tropical growth. It lies 800 miles from the headwaters of the Findlay beyond a stretch of unknown mountains and forests and so warm is its temperature compared to that of the surrounding country that in winter the valley is covered with a blanket of mist. All over the valley hot and cold streams bubble out of the ground over which honeysuckle vines creep along for 40 or 50 feet. Dandelions grow as thick as a man's arm, and huge ferns make walking difficult.

Animals Change Habits.
Apparently this valley escaped glaciation altogether, for the loam extends downward for hundreds of feet, Perry declares. The depth of the loam is seen where rivers have cut their way downward, exposing the soil.

Living for many generations in this valley, wild animals have changed their habits and have grown stunted by the unnatural warmth, Perry says. Moose are shorter than the moose that wander about northern British Columbia and are more like domestic steers. Their skins glisten and flash in the sun. Bears, too, are smaller than the bears outside the valley, and their fur is soft like the hide of a fox.

Perry declares that he has found rich mineral deposits in this land which no white man but he has seen. He discovered iron ore exposed for hundreds of feet, and there are showings of aluminum, tin and silver at different places. Perry himself, however, is interested in a copper property which he discovered in the mountains near the mysterious valley. He is making arrangements now to fly into the claim, taking with him a representative of a large mining company.

Travels 30,000 Miles.
In the last 14 years Perry has traveled 30,000 miles through the wilderness, he says. He has letters from officials of Hudson Bay company forts far down the Mackenzie river, and at other northern points which he has visited in the course of his wanderings.

It would require $50,000,000 to build a railroad into the mysterious valley on the border of the Yukon, Perry says, but the expenditure would be justified by the enormous resources of the area, he asserts.

Perry is so well known as an explorer and prospector that his story of discoveries in the little-known North has been received with wide interest. Wandering Indians have brought in tales of a tropical valley in the north of this province before, but little attention has been paid to them.

TAKES PHOTO YARD SQUARE

Largest Camera in World Used by Interior Department.

The largest metal camera in the world is located in the Department of the Interior in Washington.

It weighs about 7,000 pounds, occupies two complete rooms, takes a picture one yard square and is operated either by electricity or hand as easily as a tiny camera. Reorganization of the interior department's photographic activities, now in progress, is centered around this mammoth.

The lens, bellows and copholders are in one room and the plateholder and darkroom in the other. Focusing is done by an electrical contrivance which flashes a signal when the proper focus is reached. The three-and-a-half-ton giant was designed by A. H. Linnemeyer, leading photographer of the geological survey of the Department of the Interior.

GIRL OF TEN MOTHER

Texas Child Gazes Wistfully at Her "Live Doll," Man Arrested.

Ten-year-old Mary Laverden, reporting on a cot at the mission house, of San Antonio, Tex., gazed wistfully at her real live doll in the arms of a nurse.

She was anxious to know how soon the baby, a boy, weighing four and a half pounds at its birth, could be dressed her to play with. The authorities are holding in jail a man charged with a statutory offense against the child's mother.

Mother Dying; "Cop" Shoots Self.
Standing at the bedside of his aged mother, who was seriously ill, William H. Raetzel, a policeman at Detroit, Mich., fired a bullet into his breast. The man's condition is serious. His mother also is near death from her illness and shock.

Courage is a virtue that the young cannot spare; to lose it is to grow old before the time; it is better to make a thousand mistakes and suffer a thousand reverses than to run away from battle.—Henry Van Dyke.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

ZOO TALK

"Well," said Billie Browne, as he re-entered the zoo, "I was almost late in getting here. I stood outside upon a window ledge on my way here and had a chat with a dear little canary bird."

"I had seen him in the distance, hopping about his cage, first going for a drink of water and then for some seed, and just as busy as he could be. He seemed to enjoy the sunshine and he was just where he could get every bit of it, too."

"And he told me, too, that he had many friends he had never seen but people he could see at other windows in other apartment houses (for this was in the city I've just been through)."

"He told me, too, that when he didn't see one little girl at a window just a little distance off for quite awhile he was very much upset for fear she had been ill."

"The other awhile he saw her back again and then he sang a song of joy. He knew she couldn't hear it but he said he felt better singing it."

"And what is the news in the zoo today?" Billie Browne asked.

"Well," said Dolly Peacock, "they're all telling stories of how I let the snow fall on my tail in the wintertime when I roost at night and that I find it a bit way in the morning."

"They are saying how I will drag the weight about half the morning before I will bother or think of jumping into a shrub to work up from one branch to another and shake the snow off."

"My keeper is saying that I've more beauty than brains. But that is something some have neither. I have one of the two."

"The Amos, the tame woodchuck, you know," said the animal Billie called on next. "I follow my keeper about and I'm pleasant to everyone and friendly with everyone."

"There are not many tame woodchucks."

"I should say not," said Billie Browne. "Well, I'll surely tell all my friends about you, Amos. Glad to have met you."

And then Billie Browne said how-to-do to the Messurana snake, a very, very thin black snake. Billie liked this snake for he had heard of the good deeds Messurana had done in his South American home in destroying poisonous creatures.

Billie saw Rag Cohen having an enormous meal and he had a talk with the little Prairie Dogs who told him that when they expected a cold winter they dug the mounds around their burrows higher than ever so they'd be sure to be protected.

Billie paid a visit to the Red Howler monkey, which was such a pet and which was so well behaved, going to bed and being tucked in late at night and never disturbing anyone by crying at night.

He told Billie that he loved to have his back scratched and to lie in the sun and that he adored being petted above everything.

He spoke of John Anticosti, the North American black bear, and asked John how it was that he had such a good disposition.

"By never becoming angry or cross, word, word," said John. "I love people and I wouldn't hurt them for anything," he added. "Yes, I enjoy myself and I think it is because I'm so friendly by nature."

"I'm sure of it," agreed Billie Browne. "Well, you've always been one of my favorites," he ended.

"Ward, ward, growl, growl, thank you, thank you so much," said John Anticosti.

Billie Browne then went and chatted for a few moments with the European Bison or wisent or wild ox.

But last of all he called on young Mr. White-Fronted Musk-Ox who had just had a splendid photograph of him taken and who was still looking as though anyone might take his picture right at any moment and so he would be all ready to have his very best expression on his face.

"Yes," Billie Browne, I've been photographed. And they say that every one will see my photograph. Well, I'm sure they'll think I've fine long hair and that there is no danger that I may become bald."

And Billie Browne said he was sure that there was no danger of such a thing happening to young Mr. White-Fronted Musk-Ox.

What is this sudden gravity that shakes the grayest brow? A voice is calling downward—it is time to start the plough! GOOD THINGS FOR THE FAMILY

Most people like the old-fashioned sour milk biscuit. When well made they are tender and digestible.

Sour Milk Biscuit.—Sift one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder with one pint of flour, sifting until thoroughly mixed. Add enough sour milk to handle as soft as possible, roll out, cut and bake in a quick oven.

Spanish Beans.—Soak over night one cupful of Spanish beans, and in the morning boil until soft. Drain and cook in a frying pan in one-half cupful of olive oil with four onions, finely chopped, one chopped clove of garlic. Stir until the onions are a golden brown. Add a bay leaf, a pint of sifted tomatoes, salt and pepper to taste; cover the pan and reduce the heat to simmering, or place in the oven for an hour. Serve in a vegetable dish with a garnish of green peppers.

Raisin and Green Pepper Salad.—Boil or simmer one-half cupful of raisins in orange juice until soft; add a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Arrange a bed of lettuce and sliced green peppers around the dish; fill the slices with raisins and pour over when serving.

Thousand Island Dressing.—Beat one-half cupful of olive oil into one cupful of mayonnaise dressing; add one teaspoonful of vinegar, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of chopped pimentos, the same of green pepper and olives, all chopped fine. Mix the ingredients well, then add, gradually, one-half cupful of chili sauce. Use only enough to season the salad, as this dressing will keep it stored in a cool place.

Chicken Mousse.—Chop and pound the cooked breast meat of chicken, season, mix with gelatin and whipped cream and mold. Serve with a cream sauce. This is both a dainty and tasty dish.

BY THE SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Modern Mother, Physician Thinks, Has Poor Ways of Bringing Up Her Children.

Dr. Alzamon Lucas of New York, who claims that by the exercise of will power a mother can determine both the sex and the vocation of her unborn child, said at Atlantic City the other day:

"I hope to see—in fact, I do see—a revival of the good old-fashioned motherhood idea. The modern mother was too scientific altogether. She glanced through a textbook and thought she knew it all."

"There's a story about a nursemaid who rushed into the smoking room of one of these modern mothers and shrieked:

"Oh, my goodness, ma'am, the twins have fallen down the well! What shall I do?"

"The lady lit a cigarette and answered calmly:

"Go to the library and bring me the last number of 'Modern Motherhood.' There's a very complete article in it on 'How to Bring Up Children.'"

RELIEVED BIDDY OF DUTIES

Amateur Poultry Raiser Saw Nothing Else to Do, Since She Didn't Want Ducks.

An actress, who had retired from the stage and had bought a little house in the country, decided to start a poultry farm.

She bought a handsome fowl and a sitting of thirteen eggs.

As she had no knowledge of poultry, she wrote to a poultry journal asking how long the eggs would take to hatch out. The paper replied:

"Three weeks for chickens and four for ducks."

Some weeks later she wrote again to the paper:

"Many thanks for your advice. However, at the end of three weeks there were no chickens hatched out, and as I did not want ducks, I took the hen off."

Writer's Odd Habits.
Ambrose Bierce's habit of going about and "disintroducing" himself from persons that he found below his standard of acquaintanceship, was the least of his eccentricities. A brilliant writer, somewhat morose and always caustic, he was a genuine personality.

He was born in Ohio, entered the Union army, and became a distinguished staff officer. He settled after the Civil war in London, where he was considered a famous literary personage.

Some fifteen years ago he took residence in Washington, but his "disintroducing" was one of the most delicious and at the same time feared ceremonies of the national capital.

He was an adventurer at heart, went to Mexico to join Pancho Villa, whom he admired as a warrior who made war, and he is believed to have been killed in the battle of Chihuahua. His body was never recovered.

Not a Laundry.
Washington Close, a Delaware county farmer, always patronizes a certain barber shop in High street when he goes to Muncie. Recently Mrs. Close, missing him when she was shopping, went to the barber shop and inquired: "Wash Close in here?"

"No, ma'am," replied a barber, "we just give shaves and cut hair."

Indianapolis News.

Close Quebec Forests.
A decree has been issued by the Quebec provincial government closing the forests of the province from April 1 to November 15. Those wishing to go into the forests during that period will have to secure a permit.

The closing of the forests is a measure of protection taken by the government against forest fires.

Would Be Wasted Effort.
Emma, playing on the walk, fell, but got up and walked to the house.

I had been watching from the window and said, "Guess you didn't hurt yourself, I didn't hear you cry."

"Why, mamma, there was no one to cry to," she said.—Exchange.

Ruby Valued at $80,000.

The largest perfect ruby in the world has just arrived in England from India, consigned to the head of a firm of Indian brokers, which values the gem at $80,000. The stone, absolutely flawless, was mined at Mogok, Burmah, four years ago. It is oval, quarter of an inch long, and weighs 22 carats.

A Clerical Cynic.

Notice in a western church: "Weddings and funerals. If anything so unfortunate should happen as the events suggested by the title of this paragraph during the absence of the pastor, the Rev. E. H. Goenar has consented to represent the pastor."—Boston Evening Transcript.

HAVE HIGH NUTRITIVE VALUE

According to Bureau of Fisheries, Sea-Mussels Are Not Appreciated as They Should Be.

Officials of the bureau of fisheries declare that sea-mussels are, in a high degree, both palatable and nutritious. The bureau goes further and says that in view of the abundance of the mussels and the ease with which they can be obtained, the neglect of them for table use is wasteful. It points out that sea-mussels are found along the coasts of nearly all the northern half of the northern hemisphere, and that there are beds on the New England coast so extensive that the mussels could be collected daily by the ton.

It adds that many persons consider the flavor of the mussel superior to that of the oyster; that, moreover, mussels are in season when the oyster is out of season, and that they are more easily cultivated than the oyster. It admits that fresh mussels are most difficult to market, for they spoil if kept more than 24 hours, but asserts that if canned or pickled they retain their natural flavor for months. The bureau recommends that such cheap and nutritious food be placed on the market.

Studies Ancient Graves.

Prof. J. J. Horner, archeologist of the University of Oregon, who has visited what is believed to be the burial ground of an ancient tribe of mound builders, near Albany, Ore., has pronounced the place one of the wonders of primitive Oregon. He said the finds made by Claude Peacock, a farmer, represented a higher type of civilization than previous discoveries in that section.

Professor Horner said the carvings on mortars, the stone pipe and other objects were examples of the highest type of stone workings found in graves of mound builders. He said the discoveries indicated that these mound builders, who antedate the Indians, had the same religion as the sun worshippers of Mexico.

Improved Water Wheel.

A floating water wheel has been patented by an inventor in Pietermaritzburg, South Africa. This invention is a great revelation, and promises to revolutionize methods of raising water for irrigation purposes, generating electricity, etc. A large model is undergoing its trial in the Orange river, and it is expected that its final adjustments will shortly be complete, when the wheel will be given an exhaustive trial. The invention is so constructed that it can rise or fall with the level of the stream, delivering water through hose-pipes or through a revolving universal joint structure. It can float in the water or rest on firm soil, according to the depth of the stream, and automatically disposes of all obstacles drifting against it.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRHAM BONNER

ZOO TALK

"Well," said Billie Brownie, as he reached the zoo, "I was almost late in getting here. I stood outside upon a window ledge on my way here and had a chat with a dear little canary bird."

"I had seen him in the distance, hopping about his cage, first going for a drink of water and then for some food, and just as busy as he could be. He seemed to enjoy the sunshine and he was just where he could get every bit of it, too."

"And he told me, too, that he had many friends he had never seen but people he could see at other windows in other apartment houses (for this was in the city I've just been through)."

"He told me, too, that when he didn't see one little bird at a window just a little distance off for quite awhile he was very much upset for fear she had been ill."

"But after awhile he saw her back again, and then he sang a song of joy. He knew she couldn't hear it but he said he felt better singing it."

"And what is the news in the zoo today?" Billie Brownie asked.

"Well," said Dolly Peacock, "they're all telling stories of how I let the snow fall on my tail in the wintertime when I roost at night and that I find it that way in the morning."

"They're saying how I will drag the weight about half the morning before I will bother or think of jumping into a shrub to work up from one branch to another and shake the snow off."

"My keeper is saying that I've more beauty than brains. But that is something. Some have neither. I have one of the two."

"I'm Amos, the tame woodchuck, you know," said the animal Billie called on next. "I follow my keeper about and I'm pleasant to everyone and friendly with everyone."

"They're not many tame woodchucks."

"I should say not," said Billie Brownie. "Well, I'll surely tell all my friends about you, Amos. Glad to have met you."

And then Billie Brownie said how to-day to the Musserana snake, a very, very thin black snake. Billie liked this snake for he had heard of the good deeds Musserana had done in his South American home in destroying poisonous creatures.

Billie saw King Cobra having an enormous meal and he had a talk with the little Prairie Dogs who told him that when they expected a cold winter they dug the mounds around their burrows higher than ever so they'd be sure to be protected.

Billie paid a visit to the Red Howler monkey, which was such a pet and which was so well-behaved, going to bed and being tucked in late at night and never disturbing anyone by crying at night.

He told Billie that he loved to have his back scratched and to lie in the sun and that he enjoyed being petted above everything.

He spoke of John Anticosti, the North American black bear, and asked John how it was that he had such a good disposition.

"I've never becoming angry or cross, wood," said John. "I love people and I wouldn't hurt them for anything," he added. "Yes, I enjoy myself and I think it is because I'm so friendly by nature."

"I'm sure of it," agreed Billie Brownie. "Well, you've always been one of my favorites," he added.

"Woof, woof, growl, growl, thank you, thank you so much," said John Anticosti.

Billie Brownie then went and chatted for a few moments with the European Bison or wisent or wild ox.

But last of all he called on young Mr. White-Fronted Musk-Ox who had just had a splendid photograph of himself taken and who was still looking as though anyone might take his picture again at any moment and so he would be all ready to have his very best expression on his face.

"Yes, Billie Brownie, I've been photographed. And they say that many will see my photograph. Well, I'm sure they'll think I've fine long hair and that there is no danger that I may become bald!"

And Billie Brownie said he was sure that there was no danger of such a thing happening to young Mr. White-Fronted Musk-Ox.

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

What is this sudden gaiety that shakes the grayest brow? A voice is calling forward—it is time to start the plough! To set the furrows rolling, while all the old crowns nod; And deep as life, the kernel, to cut the golden seed. The pen-let nations have it; we'll plough awhile for God. —Olive Tiford Dorgan.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE FAMILY

Most people like the old-fashioned sour milk biscuit. When well made they are tender and digestible.

Sour Milk Biscuit.—Sift one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of soda, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder with one pint of flour, sifting until thoroughly mixed. Add enough sour milk to handle as soft as possible, roll out, cut and bake in a quick oven.

Spanish Beans.—Soak over night one cupful of Spanish beans, and in the morning boil until soft. Drain and cook in a frying pan in one-half cupful of olive oil with four onions, finely chopped, one chopped clove of garlic. Stir until the onions are a golden brown. Add a bay leaf, a pint of sliced tomatoes, salt and pepper to taste; cover the pan and reduce the heat to simmering, or place in the oven for an hour. Serve in a vegetable dish with a garnish of green peppers.

Raisin and Green Pepper Salad.—Boil or simmer one-half cupful of raisins in orange juice until soft; add a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Arrange a bed of lettuce and sliced green peppers around the dish; fill the slices with raisins and pour over when serving.

Thousand Island Dressing.—Beat one-half cupful of olive oil into one cupful of mayonnaise dressing; add one teaspoonful of vinegar, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of chopped pimientos, the same of green pepper and olives, all chopped fine. Mix the ingredients well, then add, gradually, one-half cupful of chili sauce. Use only enough to season the salad, as this dressing will keep it stored in a cool place.

Chicken Mousse.—Chop and pound the cooked breast meat of chicken, season, mix with gelatin and whipped cream and mold. Serve with a cream sauce. This is both a dainty and tasty dish.

BY THE SCIENTIFIC METHOD

Modern Mother, Physician Thinks, Has Poor Ways of Bringing Up Her Children.

Dr. Alzamora Lucas of New York, who claims that by the exercise of will power a mother can determine both the sex and the vocation of her unborn child, said at Atlantic City the other day:

"I hope to see—in fact, I do see—a revival of the good old-fashioned motherhood idea. The modern mother was too scientific altogether. She glanced through a textbook and thought she knew it all."

"There's a story about a nursemaid who rushed into the smoking room of one of these modern mothers and shrieked:

"Oh, my goodness, ma'am, the twins have fallen down the well! What shall I do?"

"The lady lit a cigarette and answered calmly: "Go to the library and bring me the last number of "Modern Motherhood." There's a very complete article in it on "How to Bring Up Children.""

RELIEVED BIDDY OF DUTIES

Aganet Poultry Raiser Saw Nothing Else to Do, Since She Didn't Want Ducks.

An actress, who had retired from the stage and had bought a little house in the country, decided to start a poultry farm.

She bought a hard-core fowl and a sitting of thirteen eggs.

As she had no knowledge of poultry, she wrote to a poultry journal asking how long the eggs would take to hatch out. The paper replied:

"Three weeks for chickens and four for ducks."

Some weeks later she wrote again to the paper:

"Many thanks for your advice. However, at the end of three weeks there were no chickens hatched out, and as I did not want ducks, I took the hen off."

A Letter from a Self Made Mapl-Flaker to His Son

Dear George:

Now that you're out "reeling" the world to take a living away from us, your Ma and I are squirming on our ringside seats, wondering if you know a hammerlock from a half Nelson—or to break.

It was no fool, George, that wrote "early to bed and early to rise"—you'll find it a pretty good rule to follow. And if you'll present that landlady of yours with a box of Mapl-Flake so you'll never fall to get a big dip in the morning, you'll find yourself stepping off the "front porch" with a leaden-to-it-it's-a-good-as-two-pen-to-day feeling that will put that silver lining in your pocket before you know it.

I've learned a lot in 54 years, son. I hold no stock in the Mapl-Flake business—but I do know that wheat is the "stuff of life," and that the bran that's in the whole wheat is "good for what ails us"—and you too. That's how your Ma and I came to be "Mapl-Flakers."

We've got to have our bran every day—Old Mother Nature can give the pill and dope makers cards and spades and lick them at their own game. And we've found that in Mapl-Flake we get enough bran, and have good, delicious, nourishing eating.

It doesn't make much difference, George, whether you sit at a desk or swing a shovel, whether you "graze" ideas or men, you've got to put real fuel in the boiler and shovel out the ashes regularly if you're going to get up a big head of steam and "oot your whistle so people can hear it."

Go to it, son. Put honest-to-goodness food under your belt, get in nights and out daytime, and you can't lose. Love from Ma and Pa.

An old 54-in-the-wool Mapl-Flaker.

Dad

Mapl-Flake is WHOLE Wheat, sweetened, flaked, and toasted to a delicious brown.

U. S. C. OF C. ANNUAL MEETING

To be Held in New York Next Week
With Variety of Attractions From Serious Things.

Kingston business men and their wives who attend the eleventh annual meeting of the U. S. C. of C. in New York, May 7 to 10, will find something new in store for them in the way of hospitalities. A special committee made up of about two hundred of New York's leading business men have charge of making all the entertainment plans. A. C. Davidson, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, is chairman of the committee, which is known as the New York reception committee.

A plan of entertainment has been worked out so that while the delegates are attending to the business of the convention their wives will be equally as busy with a diversified program of theater parties, shopping tours, fashion shows and other social functions.

While the executive officers and directors of the National Chamber of Commerce with the National Councilors are gathered at a supper and meeting on the first night of the annual meeting, their wives will be guests of the New York committee in a theater party. This is only a starter, however, and on May 8 the committee has planned a reception for the delegates, probably at the Hotel New York, where a hundred managers of companies are expected.

Later in the day the ladies will make a tour of some of New York's exclusive shops, under the direction of guides furnished by the committee. In the evening a special performance of the Hippodrome, with leading theatrical stars from Broadway taking part, will bring together the ladies to the annual meeting.

The next day, Thursday, has been set aside for the reception committee, but on Thursday night there will be a reception committee for the ladies. This will be a social affair, and the ladies will be treated to a dinner at the Hotel New York, followed by a reception at the Hotel New York.

The day of entertainment, Friday, will be given over to the ladies. They will be taken to the Hotel New York, where they will be treated to a dinner at the Hotel New York, followed by a reception at the Hotel New York. ## Kills Pesky Bed Bugs P. D. Q.

Just think, a 35c box of P. D. Q. (Pesky Devils Quietus), makes a quart enough to kill a million bed bugs, roaches, fleas or cockroaches and stops future generations by killing the eggs and does not injure the clothing.

Would fire to the bedbugs is what P. D. Q. is like. Bedbugs stand as good chance as a snowball in a hot furnace. P. D. Q. is a little white powder that you can sprinkle on the bed, or on the clothes, or on the furniture. It will kill them and their eggs in the cracks. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in sealed bottles, double strength, liquid form.

KING OF GREECE LEADS LONELY SECLUDED LIFE

Penned in Castle. Shorn of Power. He is Ruled and Watched by Government.

Americans who have recently visited the palace describe King George as a lonely, disconsolate young man. The utter collapse of the Greek army, the Smyrna catastrophe, the unexpected misery of hundreds of thousands of refugees, the internal convulsions in Greece, the execution of the former cabinet members, and the overthrow and subsequent death of his father, King Constantine, have left a deep impress on the youthful monarch. Added to these troubles is the continued delicate health of his wife, Princess Elizabeth of Romania, whose life more than once has been in danger.

The king is closely watched by the revolutionary committee, and all his official acts must have its approval. The latest step of this stern and uncompromising body was to sequester two of the late King Constantine's estates so that they would not fall into the hands of his successor, the present king.

The committee also seized the splendid palace at Corfu, built by William Hohenzollern, and for many years used by the Greek royal family as a summer home. The palace is now occupied as a hospital by the American Near East Relief organization. The use of the building for the treatment of contagious diseases has greatly grieved the king, and he has appealed to the Americans to secure other quarters.

So many restrictions are put upon the new sovereign by the revolutionary regime that he is little more than a figurehead. The Greek people always have been uncertain and fickle in their political and dynastic leanings, and they seem to be quite indifferent to the young king. As a factor in the affairs of the government, American observers declare, King George is quite negligible. He spends all his time in seclusion at the palace, receiving old friends, handing out decorations and signing documents prepared by the revolutionary government.

Recent visitors to the palace represent him as being eager to give up the lonely and uncertain job of king. But he is too well aware of the fact that any such action would probably lose the throne to the present royal family, which is of Danish-German-Russian origin. The next in line of succession to the kingship is young Prince Paul. But many persons believe George will be Greece's last sovereign, as a noticeable sentiment for a republic is developing among the Greek people.

SHOWS DISLIKE IN HIS WILL

Man Ordered His Mother-in-Law to Have Nothing to Do With Funeral. Dislike for his mother-in-law found expression in a will left by William Everett of Brooklyn, who died recently, leaving an estate of less than $1,000 to his wife Margaret. The will, filed in the Kings county surrogate court, reads:

"I hereby specifically charge my executor to arrange my burial service at any place he may deem fit and bury me, or have me buried in any cemetery he may choose, provided that such services and burial shall not take place at the home of my mother-in-law or at her direction to any burial plot."

The photograph shows a cross between a bob sled and a flivver. The sled is used to transport the car over the snow-covered roads. The front wheels are removed and steel runners put in their place.

DON'T WASH CAR TOO FREQUENTLY

Expert on Automobile Finishes Explains Why There Are So Many Shabby Machines.

Here is the opinion of an expert on automobile body finishes. "The idea that a car must be washed every time dust has accumulated on it is a mistake."

"Every time a car is washed the varnish is rubbed slightly and the enamel is dulled. It would seem necessary on account of heavy road mud to wash a car, but it isn't."

Mud Gets on Rear

"Mud generally gets on the rear half of the body and the running gear. Washing the running gear will not materially affect the general appearance of a car if it does lose its luster. It is the body of a car that catches the eye. Sprayed mud on a car can easily be removed by the use of a soft cloth drawn lightly back and forth over the surface until it crumbles away. It is not necessary to use pressure. Light buffing accomplishes the trick."

"Any white dust left on the finish after this has been done will act as a fine polishing powder when a good polish is used."

"To keep a finish in the best possible condition, it is necessary to use a cleaner once in 30 days to smooth clean and polish the surface. Cleaners of this kind scouring powder but a concentration of this nature should be used as a regular treatment. It is the light and grayness (gray being the color of dirt) that a cleaner will remove some of the good finish in each application. Therefore as a general rule, and in fact in any application, a car should be kept in a sheltered place and not be exposed to this treatment. If the finish on an automobile will be deep in shine and will not require retouching for months and sometimes years."

Keep Enamel Bright

"The enamel on a car can be kept in bright condition indefinitely while it is only natural for varnish to keep bright as long as there is life in it."

"Water is not always free from alkali. Alkali will eat up varnish. Soap cannot be made without the use of alkali and no matter how much oil and tallow are used the alkali stays alive."

"Drawing the chamois skin over an enamel surface dulls it a little in every movement and in the course of three months of washing treatment the enamel surfaces on a car turn gray. This never happens if a good reliable polish is used instead."

HOW TO RUN A CAR

There is in circulation what purports to be an English translation of the Japanese rules of the road for motorists posted in the central police station of Tokyo for the benefit of English-speaking visitors to the city. It deserves the widest possible publicity, for it is couched in such language as will impress it on the memory of all motorcar drivers. Here it is:

"First—At the rise of the hand policeman stop rapidly.
"Second—Do not pass him by or otherwise disrespect him.
"Third—When a passenger of the foot have in sight, to the horn, trumpet at him melodiously at first, but if he still obstructs your passage tootle him with vigor and express by word of the mouth the warning 'Hi! Hi!'"

"Fourth—Beware the wandering horse that he shall not take fright as you pass him by. Do not explode an exhaust box at him. Go soothingly by."

"Fifth—Give big space to the festive dog that shall spot in the roadway."

"Sixth—Avoid entanglement of dog with your wheel spokes.
"Seventh—Go soothingly on the grease mud as there lurks the skid demon."

"Eighth—Press the brake of the foot as you roll around the corner to save collapse and tie-up."
We suggest, says the Philadelphia Ledger, that drivers inclined to be careless cut this out and paste it on the wind shield where they can see it all the time.

WHEN AN ENGINE OVERHEATS

Don't Blame Cooling System as Mixture Furnished by Carburetor May Be Cause

Don't always blame the cooling system when the engine overheats. The mixture supplied by the carburetor may be causing the trouble, perhaps being too rich. Possibly the spark is not advanced far enough; maybe the oiling system is clogged or for some reason is not properly lubricating the mechanism of the power plant. It might even be possible that the fan belt is slipping, thus preventing the fan from doing its full duty. Then there are the brakes. They may be dragging because the bands are too tight, a condition which can be discovered only by jacking up the rear wheels and noting whether or not they turn freely.

BRICK WILL HEAT MANIFOLD

Device Adapting Principle of Old-Fashioned Foot Warmer Has Been Put on Market.

A device adapting the principle of the old-fashioned foot warmer has been put on the market for the purpose of supplying heat to the manifold, independently of the engine. This consists of a stove, or box which attaches to the manifold and burns a specially prepared fuel. The fuel is ignited by a match and supplies, it is said, constant heat for a period of 12 hours—24 for

HARMFUL TO JAM ON BRAKES

Practice Is Expensive Because of Wear and Tear on Tires and Burning Out of Linings.

Fast driving, followed by a sudden jamming on of the brakes, causes little time and is expensive, in the wear and tear on the tires, the burning out of the brake linings and injury to the brakes and other mechanical parts of the car.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

undue wear on tires is caused by wobbling wheels.

Never dip rear or bottom waste into the gasoline tank to obtain fuel for running.

It is better to overfill the engine than to give too little; use oil and save the engine.

A self-starter makes less noise when the car is in gear and it is propelling the entire machine.

It is old stuff to say that spring vehicles pull easier than snapping ones, but it seems to be generally forgotten nevertheless.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

Charles Chaplin appears after four-year absence in their screen service. The latest comedy is "The Kid," only rival. The added feature is Douglas MacLean in "Bell Boy 111" and one could hardly tell which one received the highest honors. It's a merry hotel mixup with a thousand rooms and a thousand laughs. Charles Ray in "The Deceit of Socrates," a lively western comedy in which he trumps a gang of wild, wild west-men at their own game. "The House of the Living Dead," a delightful little romance of crooks and spooks. Motion-picture patrons who like plenty of pepper in their screen service have evidently found the red-hot fare that "Crashin' In" Harry Carey's latest starring vehicle, now being shown at the Orpheum Theatre. Viola Dale is a delightfully pleasing feminine lead and Cullen Landis adds another impressive role to his gallery of accomplishments. Others are: "Mardi Gras," Ned Craig, Vestee, "The House of the Living Dead," Joseph Harris. Also there is vaudeville.

Socrates on Envy.

"An envious man waxeth lean," is the fitness of his neighbor," said Socrates. "Envy is the daughter of pride, the author of murder and revenge, the beginner of secret sedition, and the perpetual tormentor of virtue. Envy is the filthy slime of the soul; a venom, a poison, or quicklime which consumed the flesh and dried up the marrow of the bones."

INCORPORATIONS MORE THAN EVER

By Telegram to The Freeman.
 Albany, May 4.—At the present rate with which companies are incorporating in New York state, this year will be a record breaker along business lines. The report issued today by Secretary of State James A. Hamilton, head of the corporation bureau, shows that during the first four months of this year a total of 6,932 companies, representing a capitalization of $267,067,255, have been incorporated in this state, as compared to 6,382 companies having a capitalization of $230,428,750, receiving charters during the same period in 1922. Each month so far this year has run ahead of the same month a year ago. In Ulster county, one company, capitalized at $15,000, incorporated last month.

Best to Face Danger.

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it. He that is on a lee shore, and foresees a hurricane, stands out to sea and encounters a storm to avoid a shipwreck.—Colton.

Toilet Specialist.

Miss C. E. Schaft the well-known Toilet Goods Specialist here this week will give free massage by appointment and demonstrate the famous Cara Nome and Juneve toilet requisites.

Every woman is keenly interested in the subject of retaining her good looks, but far too few women appreciate what the term "good looks" really implies. So many make the mistake of thinking that it is primarily a matter of the features. Of course, the features do play a prominent part. A finely shaped nose, well-formed ears, well-placed eyes, and well-rounded, yet firm, mouth and chin are highly to be desired, but these alone do not give the face distinction.

The real chief characteristic of good looks, or personal beauty is far more subtle. It lies in the skin. For the skin can make or mar the most perfect features and a beautiful skin will lend distinction to the plainest features.

The proper care of a woman's skin is a subject too little understood. Some women do not appreciate its importance at all, while others, though realizing the charm of a beautiful skin do not know how to retain the clear texture, the firmness and the rosy bloom of youth. They are fearful of self-treatment and shun all toilet preparations designed to aid the skin for fear of encountering ones which might be harmful. And probably most women who give any thought to their personal beauty, and few do not, are apt to associate the retaining of a beautiful skin with the necessity of frequent visits to the so-called Beauty Shops found in so many metropolitan centers.

Any woman, as a matter of fact, may possess a beautiful skin who will take the time and pains to care for her skin systematically, in logical fashion, and who will use only preparations which she can be certain are harmless and beneficial.

To outline easy self-treatment, to demonstrate by actual free massage in the home and explain the characteristics and properties of the leading line of toilet preparations used by women of refinement today is the purpose of the visit here this week of Miss Schaft, the well-known Toilet Goods Specialist of Boston. She has been engaged specially for this purpose by McBride Drug Stores Inc., proprietors of the local Rexall Store. Miss Schaft who is not only well versed in all the aids to beauty, but conversant also with the manufacture of the preparations she specializes in, will give you free massage in the home to any Kingston lady making an appointment for this with the Rexall stores. She will demonstrate the uses and properties of different facial creams and other toilet requisites famous today under the well known names of Cara Nome and Jontee, such as creams, toilet waters, face powders, etc.

Miss Schaft's services are absolutely free. She is herself a woman of fine personal appearance and charm, an authority in her subject and comes to Kingston with very strong recommendation from other towns and cities where she has given similar demonstrations.

In addition to individual massage treatment, Miss Schaft has made a specialty of appearing before women's clubs and is open for a limited number of engagements while here. We understand she will be here for only a single week so this brief word of introduction should be sufficient suggestion to those women who may wish to avail themselves of this rather unusual opportunity.

Sincerely,
 McBride Drug Stores, Inc.

TONS upon TONS of Sewing Thread

Are consumed annually in the United States for home use and manufacturing purposes. For example—

The shoe manufacturing industry consumed last year more than eleven million pounds—billions of yards—of sewing thread.

Of this vast quantity used in this one industry, over one million pounds was Braided Sewing Thread; and it is less than ten years ago that the first yard of Braided Sewing Thread was manufactured.

CAR LOADINGS STAY NEAR PEAK

The railroads continue to make records for this time of year in the number of cars loaded with revenue freight, according to the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association. Loadings at present are not far off from the peak loadings, which ordinarily come in the fall of the year with the heavy crop movements.

Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended April 21 totaled 957,743 cars. This was the greatest number loaded in any one week since November 17, last year, and exceeded the corresponding week last year by 251,696 cars and the corresponding week in 1921 by 255,111 cars. It also exceeded the corresponding weeks in 1918, 1919 and 1920 by a wide margin.

The total for the week of April 21 was within 6 per cent of the total for the week of October 15, 1920, which was the largest in the history of the railroads.

POWER BEHIND THE "BLUFF"

Diplomatic Captain of American Warship "Put One Over" on the High Chinese Authorities

The government spends a good deal of money each year on the education of several hundred young men at Annapolis destined to become naval officers in the course of four years. Every once in a while there comes specific evidence that the money is not wasted.

Capt. Frank H. Schodde, U. S. N., member of the general board, tells this yarn to illustrate the point, according to the Philadelphia Ledger.

"In the days of wooden ships, one of ours in the Chinese station received orders to proceed to a certain Chinese port to demand redress from the local governor for the harsh treatment of some American missionaries. A small indemnity was to be collected and a salute to the American flag required."

"The ship arrived at the port, and the captain delivered (with undue ceremony) the demands of our government. He told the governor that he would expect a prompt and favorable reply. Next morning, having received no reply, the captain sent his aid to the governor to say that he had now carried out the first part of his orders and that should the governor fail to comply with his demands before 12 o'clock of that day he would be under the painful necessity of executing the second part of his orders."

"The aid had no more than returned to the ship after delivering his message when the American flag was run up on shore near the governor's palace and saluted with twenty-one guns. Immediately afterward the governor's barge with the crew pulling the well-known official goosestep stroke came alongside with the governor and the indemnity."

"Needless to say the governor was well received and that his visit was the first of a pleasant exchange of courtesies that occupied the succeeding days."

"When the visit was over and the ship was sailing away, the captain's aid ventured to inquire what the second part of the captain's orders had been. The old man, with a broad smile and satisfied grin, pulled the orders out of his pocket and read: 'Failing to obtain satisfaction within twenty-four hours of your arrival, you will quit the port and take no further action in the premises.'"

Five Steps Forward, Three Back.

Five steps forward and three steps backward—five steps forward and three steps backward—that is the strange dance of the natives of Luxembourg, in Europe. Old men and women, fathers and mothers, boys and girls, and little ones hardly able to keep up, fall in line by the thousands on the morning of the festival. At 8 a. m., the great church bell peals and the procession starts, led by golden priests, who chant a service. Through twisting streets to the banks of the Moselle river they go, dancing this strangest of dances, and to the tomb of St. Willibrod, who is supposed to be buried in the vicinity. This dance is a yearly custom of centuries standing. It is said that in the Eighth century an epidemic broke out among the cattle, killing many. The people prayed at the tomb of the saint. The epidemic gradually disappeared, and the people said the saint did it. So every year they dance their way to his tomb to give him reverence.

Shortage in Pencil Wood. Manufacturers of lead pencils are having trouble in finding wood for their factories. The lowly lead pencil requires a special kind of wood and the source of it is becoming remote and limited, according to the New York state college of forestry at Syracuse university.

A light, strong, smooth, soft-grained wood free from knots, a wood pliable to the knife and patent sharpener is necessary. The red cedar of the South Atlantic states has supplied pencil wood for half a century. It was so plentiful at one time that farmers built their fences of it. Today this supply is exhausted and the old fences are sold for pencil wood at a premium. Most of the wood from which pencils today are made is obtainable from the Pacific coast.

The California incense cedar is in great demand. Western juniper is also utilized for this purpose, but is knotty and a large portion of the tree has to be made into fence posts and cordwood.

The importance of the supply of wood for lead pencils is better understood when it is known that about 1,000,000,000 pencils are manufactured from American woods every year.

Minerals in British Columbia. Mineral production in the province of British Columbia for the year 1922 is estimated to be worth $22,367,463, as compared with $28,000,641 in the previous year, according to a government report. The feature of last year's production is the increase in gold and silver values, the former amounting to $4,116,816, which is $1,079,462 better than in 1921, and the latter totalling $4,034,154, which is $2,442,938 in excess of the previous year.

Storage of Elevators. Recent official records show that the three thousand seven hundred licensed grain elevators in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have a total storage capacity of over 100,000,000 bushels. Ontario, Quebec and Maritime provinces have storage elevators with capacity up to $2,150,000 bushels.

GREENE TIGHTENS BID REQUIREMENTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 4.—Owing to the number of contractors, who through lack of sufficient capital, have failed to complete highway contracts undertaken for the state, Commissioner Greene has ruled that hereafter, before any contract is awarded, the successful bidder must present written evidence from a bank showing his financial responsibility. The department will require that a contractor shall be able to show resources amounting to at least 10 per cent of the total contract price.

This ruling meets the general approval of experienced contractors who believe that this new requirement will result in a material benefit to the state and to responsible contractors.

The letter which contractors will be required to secure from their banks is as follows:

At the request of The Highway Company of Albany, N. Y., one of our customers, will say that we are satisfied as to their financial responsibility to undertake the contract in Orange county, New York, which contract we understand you contemplate awarding to them.

This company has now a cash balance and negotiable securities deposited with us, amounting to $20,000.00. We are also prepared to extend to this company sufficient credit to enable them to successfully complete this contract.

Pianola Good for Boarding House.

At the rummage sale being held at 551 Broadway there is an attachable pianola with some two or three hundred splendid rolls. Any summer boarding house having an upright piano to which the pianola is to be easily attached when used and as equally detached when not in use, would find this instrument very valuable for the rolls that go with it would afford not only entertainment but dance music for guests. And any one can play the pianola, that is run the rolls. Then there are many very well worth while clothes, dresses, that are very good, even handsome, for women, and, in particular, overcoats for men. A good ovens and two dressmaker's forms are other things worth buying at rummage sale prices which is what is charged for all articles.

It's a Safeguard to Many. "A small salary," remarked the Man on the Car, "has kept many a head from swelling."—Tribune Blade.

DEMOCRATS OWN TO DRY VICTORY

Doubt if They Can Get Curtilow Repealer Out of Committee—Van Wageningen Voted With Democrats.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, May 4.—The vote in the Assembly was announced, and it was found they were one short of the necessary majority of 76 to suspend rules so as to vote on the Dunnigan bill repealing the Mullan-Gage law. Some of the vote was charged that the absence of Assemblyman Nugent, Democrat, was planned so that the bill would never be passed. Minority Leader Donohue said that when he made the motion he was under the impression that every Democrat was in his seat.

When the session opened today the Democrats were confident they would be successful in bringing the Dunnigan bill before the house and passing it. Some of the "wets," however, expressed fear at that time that Assemblyman Van Wageningen, Republican of Ulster, whose vote last night forced the repeal measure of rules committee, would not vote to suspend the rules.

There was intense suspense just before the clerk reached the name of Mr. Van Wageningen. When he called for Mr. Van Wageningen's name, the Ulster county assemblyman answered, loud and clear, "Aye."

Then the vote smiled and expressed confidence that they had won the day. A groan of disappointment went up a minute later, however, when it was found that Nugent was not in the chamber, and had not been recorded, thereby defeating the motion.

While a motion may be renewed before final adjournment is taken late this afternoon, to force the Curtilow repeal bill out of committee, it is generally conceded by the wets that they have lost and that the Mullan-Gage law will remain on the statute books, so far as the present session is concerned.

"You are a fine one to desert us like this," exclaimed several Democrats when Nugent returned to the chamber after the motion had been defeated.

"Why, I didn't know they were voting on the Mullan-Gage, why didn't someone come after me?" replied Nugent.

When the vote was announced it was found that his motion to suspend rules so as to vote on the repeal measure had lost by one vote. Minority Leader Donohue, exclaimed:

"Why wasn't Nugent in his seat when his name was called?"

No one seemed to be able to answer this question.

The chamber was crowded with scores of dry advocates, and when Speaker Macdonald announced the motion had been lost, a cheer went up that could be heard through the corridors of the capitol.

PO'KEEPSIE BRIDGE BILL PASSES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, May 4.—The Senate passed today without opposition the Webb-Hackett bill providing for the construction of a bridge across the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie. An initial appropriation of $200,000 is made. Other appropriations will follow as the construction progresses. The total cost will be about $4,000,000. The bridge will be operated on a toll system until it pays for itself, and the state will then make it part of its free bridge system.

TO CHURCH IN MILTON

Fire of unknown origin Thursday morning did $4,000 damage in St. James's Church, Milton, of which the Rev. Thomas Proterger is pastor. All of the vestments of the church including six sets were destroyed together with the chancel used in the celebration of the Mass. Efficient work by many persons served to save the church from total loss. The cause of the fire is not known.

Modern Bride in Medieval Garb.

Twelfth century styles and manners were adopted recently at the background to a fashionable London wedding. The bride wore a dress designed after the period and carried the once famous court train, held by two pages. Her attendants were children, four pages and four bridesmaids. The boys were dressed in the quaint Twelfth century hose and jerkin of blue and silver, brocade with silver belts, and the girls wore long frocks of white and silver brocade, and the bridesmaids of tall, singular style, with floating white veils.

Strange Experiences.

Several years ago one of my neighbors and I saw a wildcat and decided to catch it. We made a trap, put some bait in it and waited the result. Day after day we went to the trap, but the wildcat had either taken the bait and departed or had never come. Other neighbors began to laugh at us for wasting our time. One night my wife and my neighbor's mother both dreamed we had caught the wildcat. The next morning when we went as usual to the trap, there was the cat—Exchange.

Wanted Full Information.

A nursery governess was demonstrating by means of an orange and a lighted candle the action of the sun's rays upon the revolving earth, causing alternate day and night. She concluded her discourse by saying: "So you see, my dear, it is now night in New Zealand." "Yes, yes," said her little pupil impatiently, "but what night—last night or tomorrow night?"

Effect of Music on Work.

A recent psychological experiment was to determine the effect of music on men at work in an architectural drawing room. A photograph was used to supply the music. Nearly all the men declared that the music made the work easier. They preferred instrumental music to vocal and familiar music to unfamiliar. Frequent short periods of music seemed to give the best results.

NOT MUCH CHANGE IN WORLD

Recent Finds in England Show That Ancients Had Knowledge of Things We Call Modern.

When the Romans were in Britain they drove one of their firm, well-paved, lasting roads diagonally right across England from the Kentish coast to the Dee, taking in London on its way.

That sea-to-sea thoroughfare was a busy scene 1,900 years ago. Civilization gathered along it. Now the road is being excavated and widened or remade as one of the great motor roads, and the digging that is going on, as nearly 2,000 men labor to give the old route a new life, reveals some curious proofs of how little change has taken place in some of the habits of the people.

In that far-off time, for instance, near Son, about in Kent, a little Roman or British girl became the proud possessor of a cup on which her name was scratched, AMADA. How it came to be buried while nobody can say, but buried it was, for it has been unearthed by the workers who are widening old Watling street.

Many other relics are being brought to light. Fragments of pottery, whole vessels like Amada's cup, some with the potter's name impressed on them, quivers, or hand mills, for grinding corn, terracotta lamps, bronze pins, and coins.

At Inverford a bronze brooch has been found in such a perfect state of preservation that after 1,500 years it could be used today for its original purpose. The point of the pin falls into a socket, as with a modern safety-pin, and shows that our ways and those of our forefathers are very near.

HEAD WORK THAT COUNTED

Indian's Brand Would Seem to Have Been Superior to the White Man's.

A chief of a tribe of Canadian Indians was looking idly on while some Englishmen were hard at work improving property newly acquired from the tribe. "Why don't you work?" said the superintendent to the chief. "Why you no work yourself?" "I work head work," replied the white man, touching his forehead. "But come here and kill this calf for me, and I'll pay you." The Indian stood still for a moment, apparently deep in thought, and then he went off to kill the calf. "Why don't you finish the job?" presently asked the superintendent, seeing the man stand with folded arms over the unskinned, undressed carcass. "You say you pay me to kill calf," was the reply. "Well, dead, we want money." The white man smiled, and handed the Indian an extra coin to go on with the work. "How is it?" asked the Englishman one day, after a series of such one-sided dealings. "That you so often get the better of me?" "I work head work," solemnly replied the man of the woods.—Exchange.

Glass Thunderbolts.

An exhibition of "petrified thunderbolts" may be viewed by visitors to the American Museum of Natural History in New York. Technically they are known as fulgurites, and the officials of the museum have decided that there are several million persons in the United States that have worried alone for years without knowledge of fulgurites. Dr. O. E. Hoyer of the museum's department of geology explained that a fulgurite is a glass which is often produced when lightning strikes a mass of rock or a bed of dry sand and melts the material beneath the impact. In other words, it is glass made by nature in very much the same way that men make glass in glass foundries. The fulgurites in the museum come from all sorts of places—Mt. Ararat, the desert of Sahara, Michigan, Illinois and Mehemambakka.

Antimacassar Coming Back.

The news that antimacassars are coming in again will stir memories of those once ubiquitous parlor chair embellishments. Antimacassars were annoying wisps of lace or beehorned fancy work of washable character annexed to the tops of the backs of chairs to protect them from the oily and perfumed locks of the Victorian beau.

And it is because men are again greasing their hair that antimacassars are coming back. In Victorian times the favorite antismear for masculine curls was maceassar oil, whence the name "antimacassar."

Tourists Cause Forest Fires.

According to the annual report of the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture, a large part of the danger to the national forests from man-caused fires is due to the seasonal influx of tourists, campers, hunters and fishermen, and other visitors from the cities and from distant parts of the country. A national campaign of public education on the subject of forest fires is demanded if the task of protection of the vast area of the national forests from Maine and Florida and California and Washington is to be successfully performed.

Happiness and Sorrow.

There is something more awful in happiness than in sorrow—the latter being earthly and finite, the former composed of the substance and texture of eternity, so that spirits still embodied may well tremble at it.—Hawthorne.

Story of Painter's Conversion.

When Overbeck, the German painter, began his studies for his famous picture of "Christ's Triumphant Entry Into Jerusalem," he was far from acknowledging the divinity of Jesus. Gradually the truth entered his soul and he gave himself to his task with a passionate ardor. As swiftly as his genius enabled him to proceed, he worked out his conception of Jesus and the multitude that hailed Him as the Messiah; and when the painting was finished, and he looked with tender interest upon the face of the Christ and realized the unutterable love which consoled Him to give His life for man's redemption, the artist fell upon his knees and cried: "O God, forgive me," and from that hour Overbeck became a devout worshiper of the Son of Man.—Indianapolis Star.

Making Paper Transparent.

One method of making paper transparent consists of treating the paper, usually unlined, with an oxidizing oil or mixture of oils and gums. The oils penetrate the fibers and render them transparent. China wood oil is used, and also various mixtures of oil or turpentine with certain gums and waxes. One recipe calls for 37 parts of gum dammar dissolved in 200 parts of oil of turpentine. The clear solution is mixed with 130 parts of pale poppy oil and the mixture applied to paper. The excess oil is removed by sprinkling sawdust over the sheet and removing it at once. When dried a transparent sheet is produced.

LIQUOR SEIZURE AT EAST KINGSTON

Sheriff And Troopers Make Well Organized Raid On Three Places, Getting Big Results At Quailers'—Truckload Is Seized.

A large auto truckload of wet goods was brought to the court house about midnight last night from East Kingston, where it had been seized by Sheriff William H. Kolls and a posse of deputy sheriffs and state troopers. The officers left the court house about nine o'clock Thursday evening in three touring cars, one party being in charge of Sheriff Kolls, the second in charge of Under-sheriff Tunis Haukenbeck, and the third in charge of Deputy Sheriff Seth Jocelyn, each of the three having a seek and seizure warrant issued by County Judge Fowler.

Besides the wet goods four revolvers, a large still and a tester were seized and brought to town.

The posse was divided into three parties and as many places were searched at about the same time. The greater part of wet goods seized was at the house, barn and poolroom of John and Tom Quailers on the Flatbush-East Kingston road near the Washburn brickyard which was raided by the party in charge of Under-sheriff Haukenbeck who was accompanied by State Troopers Sergeant Alford and Miller and Sergeant Hanley of the Kingston police force, who is a deputy sheriff. The house was searched from cellar to garret and there were 35 cases of beer, 11 gallons of wine, 7 cans of alcohol, 5 jugs of alleged liquor and cordials, and a 10 gallon keg of alleged whiskey was seized, also three revolvers were found in a drawer and confiscated. A complete plant for distilling alcoholic liquors was found in the loft of the barn, and a larger still and tester were seized. There was also a bottling and cap machine. In the pool room of the Quailers nearby, six cases of home brew beer, two jugs of wine, one bottle of liquor, one bottle of gin, and one revolver were seized.

Sheriff Kolls with Deputy Under-sheriff V. Ellsworth and State Troopers Sergeant Ray Lounsbury and Trooper Henry Kolls visited a shack of Sandy Smith, who is a colored cook at the brickyard, but a careful search failed to develop any wet goods.

Deputy Sheriff Seth Jocelyn with State Troopers Roach and Rose and Tom Noonan searched Tony Saccoman's place further down the road and found a number of bottles of liquor labeled whiskey and gin, which were seized and brought to the court house on the big truck.

The seized wet goods will be stored with the large quantity of the other hoard seized in this county since the Mullan-Gage act went into force in the basement of the court house, and analysis of the newly seized liquors, wine and beer made. It found to contain more than the legal prescribed alcoholic content arrests will no doubt be made of the parties in whose possession the seized liquors were found, and the matter brought before the grand jury.

Quimet First Foreigner To Take Golf Trophy of St. George From Britain

Dr. Willing, Another American. Defeated by But One Stroke in Play-Off.

Sandwich, England, May 4. Francis Quimet, of Boston, today won the play off from Dr. O. F. Willing, of Portland, Oregon, for the St. George's challenge cup in the international golf tournament.

The match provided a tense but brilliant battle, with Quimet winning by a single stroke at the end of eighteen holes, an advantage gained on the opening hole where he took a 4 against a rival 5. The medal scores were Quimet 77 and Dr. Willing 78.

Quimet's victory caused no surprise in the large gallery that followed the match and intently watched every move of the American, playing for a trophy which hitherto had remained the exclusive property of England and Englishmen. The match was started under perfect weather conditions, with a bright sun overhead, only a slight wind and the turf firm and fast.

Willing's ability to score in the twenties astonished the British, in view of his form. The Portland resident is no stylist but his game was as steady as Gibraltar and his putting sound and sometimes brilliant.

Quimet, on the other hand, displayed dashy golf. Although he lacked Willing's steadiness, he recovered remarkably well and was always strong on the greens.

CHOSES SUICIDE RATHER THAN SOLDIERS' HOME

Rather than go to a soldiers' home, Chauncey Lewis, seventy-eight, a Civil war veteran, ended his life at Albany, Thursday, with an old army pistol in his room at 294 Sherman street. Coroner John E. Mullen said he shot himself through the head.

The revolver had been used by Mr. Lewis during the Civil War and had not been discharged in more than sixty years.

Mrs. Jennie Collins, proprietress of the rooming house where Mr. Lewis lived, told Coroner Mullen the man fed to go to a soldier's home and often threatened suicide when persons suggested it. She declared he was becoming helpless. Mr. Lewis was a lieutenant in the New York Volunteer Engineers. A brother, Cole Lewis, and a sister, Miss Nora Lewis of Saugerties, were notified.

Challenge From Poughkeepsie. Holy Trinity baseball team of Poughkeepsie would like to play any amateur team between ages of 16 and 20 years, and particularly the Kingston High School team. Communicate with James Murphy, 178 Smith street, Poughkeepsie.

Probably Oldest Show on Earth. Although traveling Punch and Judy shows have never attained the popularity in this country that they have in England, they are by no means unknown in certain states of the Union, and it is believed to be a fact that the melodrama in which Mr. Punch plays the leading part is the oldest show on earth. Its hero belongs to all ages as well as to most lands. He has been recognized in ancient Egyptian hieroglyphics, and modern travelers have described entertainments of the kind in Persia, Japan, Turkey, India, Egypt, Syria, Siam, China and Tartary.
